Piedmont Council Plans Fall Campaign To Raise $17,000

James Stewart, President of the Piedmont Area Council, BSA, announced today that the council will conduct a finance campaign during the month of October. He stated the campaign will be conducted in the non-United area of Appomattox, Amherst, Bedford, Campbell, Pittsylvania, Mecklenburg, Lunenburg, Cumberland, and Buckingham counties.

He stated, the fair share of the operating budget allotted to the council campaign is $17,000.-00. The remained of the total operating budget of $76,000.00 will come from United Funds and Community Chests. There is no community goals, but each community is expected to raise the sum total of what each individual and firm in its community desires to give when the Story of Scouting and its need for support has been properly presented.

The following District Chairmen and Finance Chairmen are appointing County Chairmen to head up the Boy Scout Finance counties: Doral Irvin, Lynchburg Talmadge Jones, Danville; Frank Slayton, South Boston; Dr Elmer Hassel, Farmville, and Thomas Cox, Altavista.

The Piedmont Area Council is chartered by the National Council. BSA to bring Scouting to all boys who want to become members.

The council has 1,394 Cub Scouts (boys 8 to 10 years of age) in 67 Cub Packs; 2653 Boy Scouts (boys 11 years of age and older) in 138 Boy Scout Troops; 336 Explorers (boys 14 years of age to 18) in 26 Explorer Units. 1,912 Adult Leaders serve voluntarily as Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, Explorer Advisors, Scout unit committeemen, commissioners, and council and district members. These volunteer leaders receive help and guidance from six professional Scouters. Mr. Stewart emphasized that the support of every community in the Scout Council area will make it possible for the council to continue to make Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, and Exploring available to all boys in their neighborhoods where they live

William Campbell, Mrs. Maude Braford, of Rustburg, Mrs. Madeline Thomas, of Appomattox, Mrs. Doris Cocke, of Altavista, and Mrs. Sarah Morey, of Brookville, serve as federation advisers.

This, in brief, sums up one good reason, we feel, for all-out support for the Appomattox Heritage Festival — a "Sound and Light", after-dark show, which would cause hundreds of additional tourists to "spend the night" in this area.

In addition, a dramatic production done with top notch performers and technicians would be a long lasting tribute to the men and events which took place here at Appomattox, an educational "plus" for children and adults everywhere.

In the words of D. Gordon Graham, "Sound and Light" consultant to Appomattox Heritage, a "sound-light" production can be something "wonderful, good, and memorable - - something that people will plan to come to Appomattox to see."

REV. THOMAS A. WADDILL
Pastor Speaks

Is reported that when the first Russian cosmonaut made his journey around the earth, he radioed back that he had flown all around the world but had found no sign of God. He successfully 'proved' that God did not exist. Many people, in our country as well as in non-Christian nations, scoff as Christianity because we cannot prove the existence of the God we worship. These adherents of Scientific Naturalism must have proof. For them the world of reality consists only of that which has been proved by scientific research.

The Christian religion is one of faith. We must go beyond what we can see, hear, touch, taste, and smell. Reason is a valuable tool but not the only one at our disposal. Moreover, Christianity is a historical religion. It claims that God acts in history, that he is not off in space somewhere watching the universe go around in circles. He is present in our world and has a hand in its affairs.

The history of the Hebrew people is the history of God acting on behalf of His chosen people, preparing the way for blessing the world through them. The coming of Christ is a historical event. Jesus was a real, flesh, and blood human being, who lived at a particular time in the history of mankind. In Jesus Christ God was acting in the history of mankind to redeem men and women to Himself, in order that they might fulfill the purpose for which they were made, who has acted before in created. (II Cor. 5:19) the history of the world, continues to act in the affairs of men. He continues to guide nations, using them for his purposes discarding them when they will not submit to His will. He continues to act on behalf of mankind, working through human leaders to work out and bring about our redemption, provided once for all in Jesus Christ. We are not his puppets. We have our freedom. He uses men as they place themselves at His disposal.

...doesnt order every event in our lives as we would like. He does not keep the world in chaos by interrupting the laws of the natural and moral order. In the midst of the evil in this world He is working for our ultimate good, paying the price of our redemption and girding us up so that we might be victorious in our fight with evil. Our destiny lies with God. Let us trust Him with it!

Promised Land

Lesson for August 30, 1964

"Promised Land"—what does that suggest to most people who read or hear the words? To many it suggests a land of rest, a perfect paradise, the Utopia, the never-never land of heart's desire. This was not the original meaning at all. It referred to a definite area on the surface of this planet, about the size of the state of Vermont, and which most American farmers would consider far from the best, a land without roads, a land of very crude culture compared with our own. It was promised to a ruler with promising set of desert tribes, children of slaves. They needed a place in the sun, and the Promised Land was it.

The Land

The land is still there, much changed, with the forest of centuries of misuse thick upon it, and yet a land which today is beginning to blossom again. When the Israelites began to edge their way in, it was a fresher land than now. There were forests in which men might be lost, there were clear streams, there were wild beasts such as lions. Partly, it is still there. You can buy a ticket to please in it. Some of the towns mentioned in the Bible are still in existence. This writer has telephoned to Jerusalem from the top of Mt. Carmel. You can drive the length of the whole ancient kingdom of the ten tribes in an afternoon. But while the centuries have made many differences, and the wars and neglects of man have damaged the land in many ways, the Promised Land is still there, with the same rivers and mountains, desert and seacoast that were there when Joshua was fighting his way in.

Conquest

Palestine is not now a peaceful country, it almost never was. If Jew and Arab are at each other's throat today, they are only keeping up with an ancient tradition. Joshua found the cities of the land in league against him, but if they had not been fighting him they would have been fighting each other. This brings up an old question. Today wars of extermination are regarded by all the world as criminal. We have a name for what Joshua tried to do: genocide, the complete slaughter of a nation. Can we today approve of genocide when Joshua committed it (or tried to—the attempt was not wholly successful), while thinking it is a horrible crime today? One thing we can say: A Christian, even a non-Christian in a world which has long had the influence of Christianity, has a light which Joshua did not have. Joshua had never heard of the Sermon on the Mount.

In Song and Story

The "Promised Land" has captured the imagination of people who make poetry out of history. The conquest of Canaan has been idealized, romanticized, spiritualized, out of all resemblance to its actuality. One of the oddest uses of the Historical conquest by the Israelites is to take Jordan as a symbol of death, and Canaan (the Promised Land) as a type of heaven. Considering the bloody cruel ugliness of what actually went on, one hopes that heaven is not like what the Hebrews found and did in the Promised Land! It would be better to take those wars as an example of how God can bring good out of evil, using "the wrath of men to praise him." Let us be grateful that victory came not to the sprawling tribes who worshipped animals, but to a people who for all their faults and sins still were a ward of a God of purity and justice, a God of truth, King of all the Kings and kinglets of this earth.
